RE: Acceptance of Your Proposal of Hosting Two International Meetings

Dear Dr. Vesselin Vassilev,

Following the Turkish withdrawal from hosting the 7th Nano-Satellite Symposium and the 4th UNISEC-Global Meeting to be held in Istanbul on October 17-23, 2016 due to its social unrest, we, a cohost organizer, were looking for alternative locations around the world. Soon after our search, we were lucky enough to receive several proposals from our UNISEC colleagues, including yours.

We are very glad to inform you that Bulgaria was selected by the Steering Committee of the UNISEC-Global to host the above events in October 2016. We value Bulgaria as the most promising and attractive location to bring together many participants of professors, university students, researchers, engineers and business people around the world. In this sense, we appreciate a lot and accept the strong commitment of CASTRA to act as the local organizer and host, in support of the activities of the UNISEC-Bulgaria local chapter.

The University Space Engineering Consortium (UNISEC) is a non-profit Japanese space organization, dedicating to the promotion of university student/young researcher's activities home and abroad. UNISEC-Global is an association of UNISEC local chapters to provide a forum with the local chapters for exchange of opinions.

At any rate, we would like to proceed with your proposal together and to make our best efforts to implement the above two meetings in a cooperative spirit.

Sincerely Yours

Rei Kawashima
